Heavy Snowfall Blankets State; Mercury Drops

First Heavy Snowfall Of Year For State Brings
Low Temperatures

STORM COMES IN FROM MID-WEST

Eastern Pennsylvania Will Feel Full Fury Of Storm Tonight

(International News Service)
Hoary old king winter laid an icy hand on Pennsylvania today, blanketing the state with a whirling snowfall and sent the mercury tumbling to new lows for the winter season to date.
Icy gales whistling in from the midwest served notice of the extension of king winter's domain, and the notice was carried into execution at 7 o'clock this morning when the winds whipped a shifting snowfall eastward from the Ohio line.

Near Blizzard
Western Pennsylvania experienced a near blizzard. Highway traffic was slowed to a near standstill. Temperatures nose-dived to a low of 22 degrees at 10 o'clock, with a further drop predicted.
Overcast skies and a falling mercury were general throughout eastern Pennsylvania, where a light snowfall was expected by this afternoon or tonight. Snow flurries swept through Berks county this morning.
A temperature of 26 degrees was reported.

Snow was falling steadily in Harrington this morning, threatening to turn to rain. A forecast of slowly rising temperature Sunday was issued for central Pennsylvania, tending to dissipate fear of icy conditions on the highways. More snow, however, was promised for tonight and possibly tomorrow. The federal

PA NEW OBSERVES

Pa New observed that the street lamps of South Mill street were lighted at three o'clock Thursday afternoon.

William Ayers of Harbor Road, is the owner of a pair of what he terms chickens and which were hatched out from common chicken eggs last spring. The fact of the matter is that this pair of fowls look like chickens, eat like them, but waddle like a duck and stand erect like the Penguins that Admiral Byrd found so plentiful down in the Antarctic Ocean. They are attracting much attention from persons interested in trying to name the particular variety of fowl that they represent.

Pa New noted that motorists picked their way down Highland avenue hill very gingerly Friday afternoon, after a nice shiny red truck had skidded across the street and sidewalk a telephone pole.

The action of the weather during the past few weeks leads Pa New to opine that we are going to have plenty of real wintry weather this winter, and we haven't seen any goose quills or other signs to lead us to think this way.

Auto wreckers were kept busy on the roads yesterday afternoon, hauling in cars with damaged wheels, or other troubles, as a result of the

FIVE ESCAPE DEATH AS ENGINE AND CARS HIT DYNAMITE TRUCK

Five men had a miraculous escape from death late yesterday afternoon when a Pennsylvania Railroad Company engine, drawing two cars containing 20,000 gallons of oil, struck a truck trailer which contained several hundred boxes of dynamite on the Bessemer branch of the railroad near Covert's Station. The trailer was wrecked and dynamite scattered in all directions.

According to State Highway Patrolman Stoope's men were:
Carl Baricelli, truck driver, Cleveland.
Michael Grandello, helper on Bar-ricelli's truck, Cleveland.
Samuel Gibson, truck driver, R. D.
8, Mahoningtown.
D. E. Meyers, engineer, New Castle.

Charles L. Cox, conductor, New Castle.

According to Stoope's report the truck operated by Baricelli and Grandello had difficulty ascending the hill leading to the railroad after the truck had been loaded with dynamite at the Burton Explosives plant. Samuel Gibson coupled his truck to the front end of the Cleveland truck to help it up the hill.

The truck operated by Gibson was first to get across the railroad. The next truck, driven by Baricelli also got clear of the railroad but not the trailer attached to the truck driven by Baricelli.
The engine struck the trailer which was demolished and the dynamite scattered in all directions.

Twenty Three Bodies Found In Wrecked Mine

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
YANCEY, Ky., Dec. 10.—Bodies of twenty-three men, trapped by a coal dust explosion in Zero mine here, were found today by rescue squads.
The bodies were located 8,000 feet inside the debris-littered, gaschoked workings of the Harlan Fuel company's workings under Big Black Mountain.

"Black damp" in the wake of the blast yesterday had snuffed out the lives of the miners quickly.
Fourteen men in another part of the shaft, warned of the disaster by an ominous gust of air, fled to safety.

Today groups of mourning women and children had abandoned their vigil at the mine entrance, where they had vainly watched since yesterday morning for the safe return of their menfolk.
Eleven of the victims were white workers and twelve were negroes.

Marilyn Miller Will Be Wedded To Don Alvarado

Leave London

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 10.—Marilyn Miller, musical comedy star, and Don Alvarado will wait until they leave London before getting married, she said today.

Miss Miller told International News Service:

It is impossible to say when and I don't think it will be here."

Next War Debt Move In Europe Eagerly Awaited

U. S. Wonders What Move European Nations Will Make Next

TRADE REVIVAL
TALK IS HEARD

Speculate On Recommendations From President
Regarding Debts

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Two questions in the situation revolving around European war debts held the focal point of interest today.

They were:
1. What recommendations regarding re-examination of the war debt funding settlements with an almost inevitable downward scaling of the debts to result, will President Hoover make in his forthcoming special message to congress?

2. What new move or plan are the governments of the debtor nations planning next, in view of the finality of the American government's refusal to consider a postponement of the debt installments due on Dec. 15?

Private Negotiations.
It appeared evident from passages contained in the latest notes delivered to the British and French ambassadors here by the state department, that President Hoover is holding private negotiations with each of the debtor countries. The objectives of such conferences would be to survey "the entire situation," and to consider "what means may this journey. Let's get aboard, otherwise we will miss the train. I hope the boat doesn't sink."

"The professor needs a rest. He this afternoon for California, via the Panama canal.

ZASU PITTS IN CRITICAL SHAPE FROM OPERATION

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 10.—Zasu
Pitts, film comedienne, was in critical condition today following an emergency operation for appendicitis.
Complications developed. She passed a restless night and was given operatives to relieve pain.
Her failure to rally alarmed the film colony where for years she has been one of the most popular of character actresses.

MUCH SKIDDING
FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Numerous Minor Auto Accidents Are Reported On City Streets

One of the old-fashioned winter days hit the city and county Friday night, and at noon today one was listening for the jingle of sleighbells and the snorts of staid old gentlemen as they hit the sidewalk.

Early Friday evening a light snowfall and freeze put a glaze on streets that caused a number of minor wrecks, wheels being broken off for the most part, with a few dented fenders, as testimony to the skidding done by cars. The street department had ashing crews out as soon as possible and made the streets safe for travel.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCES CONTRACT GIVEN TO KUTSCHE CO.

Building On New Castle Public Square
To Be Constructed Of Sandstone At Contract Price Of $209,500. Federal Building Must Be Completed Within 430 Days—Expect Razing Work To Be Started At Once.

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 10.—The United States Treasury Department today awarded the construction contract of New Castle's new post office to A. W. Kutsche Company, of Detroit, at a cost of $209,500.

Under this contract, the structure will be of sandstone. Kutsche Company, lowest bidder of 27 concerns submitting estimates, had offered to put the building up of limestone for $198,000 and of sandstone for $209,500.

Representative J. Howard Swick today expressed the hope that awarding of the sandstone contract would result in the use of local building stone.

"I am making every effort to have as much local material as possible used in the new building", Congressman Swick said. "I feel the selection of sandstone will mean that local stone will be used, although I cannot say this for sure as yet."

Under the contract, Kutsche and Co. have 430 calendar days in which to complete construction of the new federal building on the Diamond. Razing of the buildings now on the site is expected to be commenced at once.

Charity Concert To Occur Sunday

Community Singers To Give
"The Messiah" As Benefit For Needy

TO GIVE PROGRAM
AT THE CATHEDRAL

At the Cathedral auditorium on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock one of the most brilliant performances of Handel's inspiring Christmas oratorio, "The Messiah" will be given by a talented host of community singers as a benefit for the Mayor's Relief Committee. The public will be admitted free of charge.

Just a year ago a civic-minded musical group, subscribing their talents to charity, gave "The Messiah" for the first time as a relief benefit, and when that program ended the vocalists pledged themselves to conduct a like concert each year. And this year's concert will be for the aid of destitute.

A free-will offering will be lifted mid-way in the concert.

Old Homestead Burns To Ground

Overheated Furnace Forces Weighttown People To Flee From Flames

Fire which is believed to have started from an overheated furnace at 2 o'clock this morning, destroyed the old Houk homestead on the north side of the Butler road at Weighttown. The occupants of the home, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ort, were able to escape in safety and with the aid of neighbors removed most of their valuables. The loss will be around $4,000, covered by insurance.
A call for help was sent to the New Castle fire department, but because of the slippery condition of the road and the distance away, backed by the fact that the water supply would probably be inadequate to serve their pumps, they did not respond.

You can take a rest from the mower now, and the hoe you can put away, for the shovel is needed in quantities, it's a wintry sort of a day. And the porch is piled with a bank of snow, where once was the old porch swing, and the corners are harbors for snow and frost, that will take some moving, old thing.
But this is the kind of a day I wot when the merchants will do some biz, with sales of woollens and lugs for ears, and coats that will laugh at the blizz. So park the mower and look around for the shovel and get some fun, in shoeing drifts that have hit your place, the weath-

WINE GROWERS URGE LEGALIZING PRODUCT

Present Pleas To Committee

Wine Growers Seek To Legalize Light Wines Along With Beer

DRYS WILL HAVE INNING MONDAY

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The plea of wine growers for the right to sell the sparkling product along with beer was laid before the house ways and means committee today.

Turning from modification of the Volstead act to legalize beer after three days, the committee was anxious to learn whether wine could be legalized while the 18th amendment is in effect.

Spokesmen for the wine growers in California, New York and Ohio were prepared to argue their case and cite the benefits of legalized wine.

Formidable Opposition.
The wine growers faced formidable opposition, with some members of the house "wet blocs" flatly opposed to their plan to authorize sale of naturally fermented wines. Opponents insist that constitutionalism of the modification bill might be endangered by inclusion of wine.

They also point out that the plan of the wine growers would legalize only part of the wines known to the wine drinkers of the country. Burgundy, Tokay and many of the famous brands of wine, they maintain, cannot be successfully made without the addition of alcohol.

With conclusion of the wine testimony, the committee will hear leaders of the dry organizations Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Ella Boole, president of the W. C. T. U., has been an interested witness during the presentation of testimony in favor of beer. She will speak against any modification of the Volstead act.

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., will be a prominent witness for the dries.

be taken to bring about the restoration of stable currencies and exchange, the revival of trade, and the recovery of prices."

It also appeared evident to observers here that Great Britain and France are working out some new proposal and schedule for debt payments made on and subsequent to June 15. Practically all hope has been abandoned, even in European capitals, for a postponement of the instalments due Dec. 15.

France Will Help
London, Dec. 10.—Aided by a definite offer of financial help from France, the British government went forward today with plans to pay the war debt instalment due December 15, at the same time discussing means of obtaining relief in the future.

It was strongly hinted in official circles that Great Britain would not be adverse to discussing a reciprocal arrangement with the United States, whereby American produce and some manufactured goods would be assured a fair market in this country in return for debt revision.

Now it develops that Stalin's troops can't shoot accurately. They have always been sorry Marxmen.

PA NEW OBSERVES

skiddy condition of the streets and highways, before the danger spots were all ashed.

Drivers on the highways Friday evening were certainly glad to see the asking crews on the hills. Many of the hills were exceedingly hard to travel for a short time, until they were ashed. In the city, the workmen of the street department were on the job early, and soon had the danger spots taken care of. A lot of drivers had some unhappy moments during the early afternoon hours, however, as the streets began to get slippery.

Two ladies coming from The Cathedral discovered that the sidewalks were slippery in rather a sudden manner, Friday evening. One slipped on the curve at Highland avenue, and fell down. Her companion seeking to aid her, also slipped and fell, landing about ten feet further down the hill when she came to a halt.

Now this morning gave every evidence of a real winter down fall. It was a fine dry snow, and kept coming down steadily.

We can be thankful that there was no football game scheduled here today.

Auto chains were called into service early Friday afternoon on many cars, and today, with the snow beginning to pile up on the streets, they were in even greater demand.

A lot of youngsters were out today with their sleds, enjoying the first real winter of the season, and for several seasons for that matter. Several youngsters were out yesterday with skates, when ice was formed over many of the sidewalks and streets.

Another unmistakable sign of Old King Winter's coming was the sudden appearance on the streets this afternoon of the city's trolley snow sweeper. Traction officials decided to take no chances on service disruption.

Today's snow storm has given a real impetus to that Christmas feeling. Christmas shopping is benefiting as a result.

Various organizations here are vitally interested in taxation and according to reports City Controller Phil G. Greer is appearing often before the various bodies. As a tax analyst he is said to be one of the best in this vicinity, especially on city, school and county tax matters.

Approximately 50 members of the Mayor's Relief committee workers were employed today quarrying stone at Ray street and Gaston Park. Twenty five men worked at each place. Stone walks are being laid in Gaston Park with stone taken from the Ray street quarry.

As soon as the snow started falling yesterday street department employees secured truckloads of ashes and ashed the hills. For a time before the ashing it was almost impossible to negotiate the hills.

T. C. Moore, superintendent of the New Castle Electric Street Railway this morning ordered the snowplow into service. He said that while there had been no delay he wanted to keep the lanes open so there would be no delay if snow continued falling.

Mighty few motorists seemed prepared for the snowfall with chains. Pa New observed this morning. Only about one in every ten cars sported chains. Perhaps the average was lower than that.

observer at Harrisburg received reports of snow today in all parts of the state except Philadelphia. Central Pennsylvania temperatures sank close to the 20 mark during the night. Not more than 28 degrees was predicted for tonight. At 10 a. m. the mercury stood at 24.

In Ice Grip

Winter tightened its icy grip on the state as the day wore on. Cambria and Somerset counties reported reports of snow today in all parts of the state except Philadelphia. Road equipment of the highway department was called out to keep the roads open in Venango county while an even heavier snowfall was reported to the north.

Meanwhile, the heaviest snowstorm in years broke in eastern Ohio this morning and threatened to move in on Pennsylvania in full fury late today. At Newark, O., a full-fledged blizzard was raging and city officials mobilized an army of 200 unemployed men to clear the streets.

Snow In Mid-West

Chicago, Dec. 10.—A comparatively comfortable week-end was promised the middle west today as the cold wave began waning. Temperatures throughout most of the central states were slowly rising, but snow storms came in the wake of the severe cold.

All sections of the nation, including the South and the Pacific coast, nevertheless, continued to suffer sub-normal temperatures. J. R. Lloyd, Chicago government weather observer, said the frigid snap will persist along the eastern coast and mountain regions until tomorrow.

Six Are Dead

The toll of dead in this city taken by the extreme cold was six. A snowstorm was moving north-eastward from Colorado and another storm was reported developing over Louisiana.

The coldest spot on the North American continent yesterday was White River, Ont., with a reading of 48 degrees below zero.

their particular field, the morning program being devoted to discussion of various subjects by Lawrence County farmers.

The Four-H Club boys and girls also took an active part in the program, having an exhibition of their handiwork, and staking a program following the dinner which clearly outlined the things they are doing to become better farmers than their parents were before them.

Re-name Officers
The meeting was called to order by President N. E. Sampson and following the reading of the minutes by the Secretary, and the report of the treasurer, the election of officers was entered into resulting in the same officers being re-elected for the ensuing year.

These officers are as follows: President—N. E. Sampson; vice president, Dr. Frederick Taylor; secretary, Harold Hoyer and treasurer, R. P. Peebles.

After the election, the morning program was carried out with the following discussions: "Remodeling and renovating old clothing," Mrs. William McMillen of Wampum.

"Value of home grown feeds in dairy management," M. G. Moore, Wilmington township.

"Food preservation in the Mahoning community," Mrs. R. D. Walter.

"How we organized and conducted a 4-H sweet corn club in our community," William Walker, Wayne township.

"Why conduct potato seed source demonstrations in Lawrence county?" David A. Byler, North Beaver township.

"Girls 4-H clubs" Mrs. J. C. Heckathorne, Plaingrove.

"Sanitation as a factor on growing poultry," A. F. Arnold, Little Beaver.

"Clean fruit as an aid to marketing," S. R. Huey, Neshannock township.

A summary of Home Economics work carried out during the past year was made by Miss Eleanor Drury, home economics extension representative, while H. R. McCulloch, county agent, discussed agriculture in general in the county and summarized the work of the past year.

Children Give Program

Following the luncheon, a program was carried out by the 4-H Club boys and girls, including a number of songs relating to their work and aims.

A playlet entitled "A Club Round-up" was presented with the following taking part:

Hickory community—Martha Robinson, Winifred Dean; Washington township, Opal Martin, Albert McConnell; Wampum, Helen Marshall, Dimple White, Mary Archetta, Erma Herbert; Wayne township, Hazel Walker, Jean Belts, Robert Walker, Little Beaver, Betty Dice, James Nesbitt; Plaingrove, Leora McCommons, Elizabeth Rodgers, Edith Rodgers; Slippery Rock, Jennie Viola Munnell; Pulaski, Elizabeth Ropp and Ellen McClenahan.

Mr. Marquis who represented the United States Department of Agriculture and Assistant Secretary R. W. Dunlap, who was unable to attend because of other duties, laid the blame for the present continuance of the depression on the World War. "The American Farmer had nothing whatever to do with this depression and can do very little to end it," was his declaration at the start of his address.

War Is Blamed

"You can't make iron and explosives into shells and fire them off, destroying what effort and materials were placed into the making of them, and expect to reap anything. In the same way, you cannot take out of the country many of the finest young men without sustaining an economic loss besides the loss in life."

"The United States Department of Agriculture has been studying history quite extensively during the past few years, in an attempt to find out what was done in the past to end these depressions. We found we must look at conditions as they are and work our way out."

"It had been said some few years ago that the farmer had been producing too much, and perhaps he might have been if things had gone along normally, but if the farmer had quit producing, things would have been in a sorrier condition than they are now. You as farmers have produced a great surplus of cheap food which has kept a great many people from starving to death."

"The only thing we can liken this depression to is the seven fat years and the seven years mentioned in the bible. When we look back on the years from 1922 to 1929 we might not agree that they were very fat years for the farmer, but they were much better than the three years have been since that time. When the clutch slipped in 1929 we started going downward toward the bottom and we have now reached the bottom and should be starting up, so maybe by the end of the next four years, we will be out of the slump."

Mr. Marquis then made the assertions outlined at the start of the story, namely that the farmers must study his market, keep his costs low, use scientific methods and good fertilizer, and not be afraid to change his methods if he is not making out.

Awards Presented

Following Mr. Marquis' address, H. L. McCurley gave a report of the Cow Testing Association and presented the C. T. A. certificates and ribbons to Lawrence county dairymen whose high standard during the past year has merited this recognition. Certificates were presented the members by the National Dairy Association, while ribbons were given by the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association.

Those who were presented with these awards were: J. W. Martin and Son, Lauren Thompson, J. A. Boak and sons, H. L. McCurley and Son and M. G. Moore and son.

J. M. Fry, Assistant Director of Agriculture Extension of State College, concluded the program with a resume of the work being done for the farmers of Pennsylvania through the Extension Association, one of the most outstanding of which was the way in which the wool is handled for the farmers who belong to the various cooperative marketing and growing associations. So high has the standard of efficiency become, that the Extension Bureau has had no complaints of inferior work in grading or that the farmer has never received full value for his product.

He showed how the college has helped farmers in producing greater yields of crops through science in farming, and ended by congratulating the members of the Lawrence County Association on the splendid work they are doing here.

TRAFFIC BATTLES HEAVY SNOW IN LOCAL DISTRICT

were broken off and one car smashed into a tree, hitting it with such force that it was uprooted.

Highway crews were on the job early ashing the hilly roads and making every possible effort to provide safe traction for automobiles.

While this is mid-December, today was the first real snow that has fallen since early in the year. With the snow came a drop in temperature that was responsible for heavy sales of alcohol and other anti-freeze compounds. Coal men looked with equanimity upon the scene, and the clothing and shoe merchants got a break. Weather such as this means sales of overcoats, woolen goods, shoes and overshoes.

At noon the temperature was around the freezing point, with weather forecasts indicating that the cold snap would be with us for a number of days.

Trouble for Motorists

Snow that began to fall in the early evening Friday and had continued more or less ever since, becoming a regular old-fashioned snow storm today, was the cause of much trouble to motorists, especially in its early stages on Friday.

It made all the hills leading to the outer sections of the city very slippery and made it impossible for most cars, because they were without chains, to make the grade to get home.

Calls for help in this matter were soon floating into the police department from every section—north, east, south and west. The street department was called into play and before six o'clock had scattered ashes on all hills sufficiently to make it possible for the cars to make the grade and get home. Traffic was normal before six o'clock as a result of the co-operation of the police and street departments.

The slippery condition of the streets, particularly the hills, was the cause of numerous minor accidents, some of which were reported to the police.

Some Accidents

John Fowler, of Matilda avenue, R. D. No. 2, reported that he was en route west on Arlington avenue as Clarence Smiley of R. D. No. 1 was going in the same direction to his rear. Mr. Fowler pulled over to the curb and stopped and the Smiley machine skidded into the Fowler car, causing some damage to both.

R. W. Pitzer of 1005 North Beaver street reported that he was going north on Moravia street at Center alley as a man pushed a small push cart from the alley onto the street. Mr. Pitzer attempted to stop, but did not get this done until his machine skidded into the push cart, damaging it to some extent.

Dalton S. Hutchison of 1905 Highland avenue was en route north on Albert street at Euclid avenue as a truck of Riley & Sons came west on Euclid and failed to make the required main thoroughfare stop, with the result that the two machines came together and both were damaged.

William J. Gebhart of 8 South street was en route south on South Jefferson street when a car bearing Pennsylvania license 9T4680, going south on Jefferson street, hit the Miller car after hitting a machine parked on the west side of North Jefferson street.

G. W. Miller of 316 Green street was en route north on North Jefferson street above Grant street, when a car bearing New York license 9T4680, going south on Jefferson street, hit the Miller car after hitting a machine parked on the west side of North Jefferson street.

mittee of arrangements, announced today that the program's plans were complete.

The Music club will present their Christmas program at the First M. E. church on Monday evening at 8:15 o'clock. This will be the first appearance this season of the Music club chorus under the direction of Richard E. Johns, with Mrs. Paul Welsh as accompanist.

Albert Taylor, organist, will play three appropriate Christmas numbers. The choral numbers on the program are in three groups; first, a series of ancient nativity songs from such places as Catalonia, once a province of northeastern Spain, and Bressonne, a section of northern Italy. These songs were originally sung by "wails" or carolers who used to sing in the streets of these villages on Christmas eve.

There is also a cappella group—Hungarian, French and German folk songs sung without accompaniment. Among the composed choral numbers are Tchaikowski's "Legend" and "The Shepherd's Story" by Clarence Dickinson. Incidental solos will be sung by Miss Mary Clark, Mrs. Robert Fleming and Miss Ruth Drescher.

This Christmas program will be open to the public.

REPEATING DECIMALS!

"Life," said the Pessimist to me, "is a repeating decimal."

"What do you mean—a repeating decimal?"

"You know what I mean," said he. "Back in your school days, you divide a number like 60 into another number like 100,000 and you'd get 1.666.66666666 and you could keep it up all day and all night and never get anything but a long line of 6's. That was a repeating decimal, and I mean that life is like that."

"Does it depress you?"

"Certainly it depresses me," said the Pessimist, "and why shouldn't it? Life is one thing after another. After every meal you have to do the dishes. After every pleasure comes a dull pain. After every joy is regret. In all happiness is the germ of melancholy. The good die young, or they live long and the good dies out of them. These gay young people you see all around you will be old and weary and disheveled some day. It goes on and on and on like a repeating decimal and it makes me sad."

"I don't see why it should. If life were the same always, then you might feel depressed, but not otherwise. You ought to be happy over the thought that things change. That there is contrast in life. After you've had a headache you feel much better; the sense of impending loss sharpens the joy of possession, life is a throbbing pulsation, and though you lost something forever when youth goes, you ought to gain something else that youth can never enjoy."

"It doesn't hurt me to think of life as a repeating decimal that repeats itself until infinity. That 'infinity' is a far horizon that fascinates more than it terrifies. I like to think of an endless existence with lives following still others and of ourselves being ancestors of all those unknown people of the future."

"I'm afraid you're an optimist."

"So are you, or you wouldn't get out of bed in the morning and you wouldn't lace your shoes and you wouldn't care what you have for dinner and you wouldn't get so much fun out of abusing life."

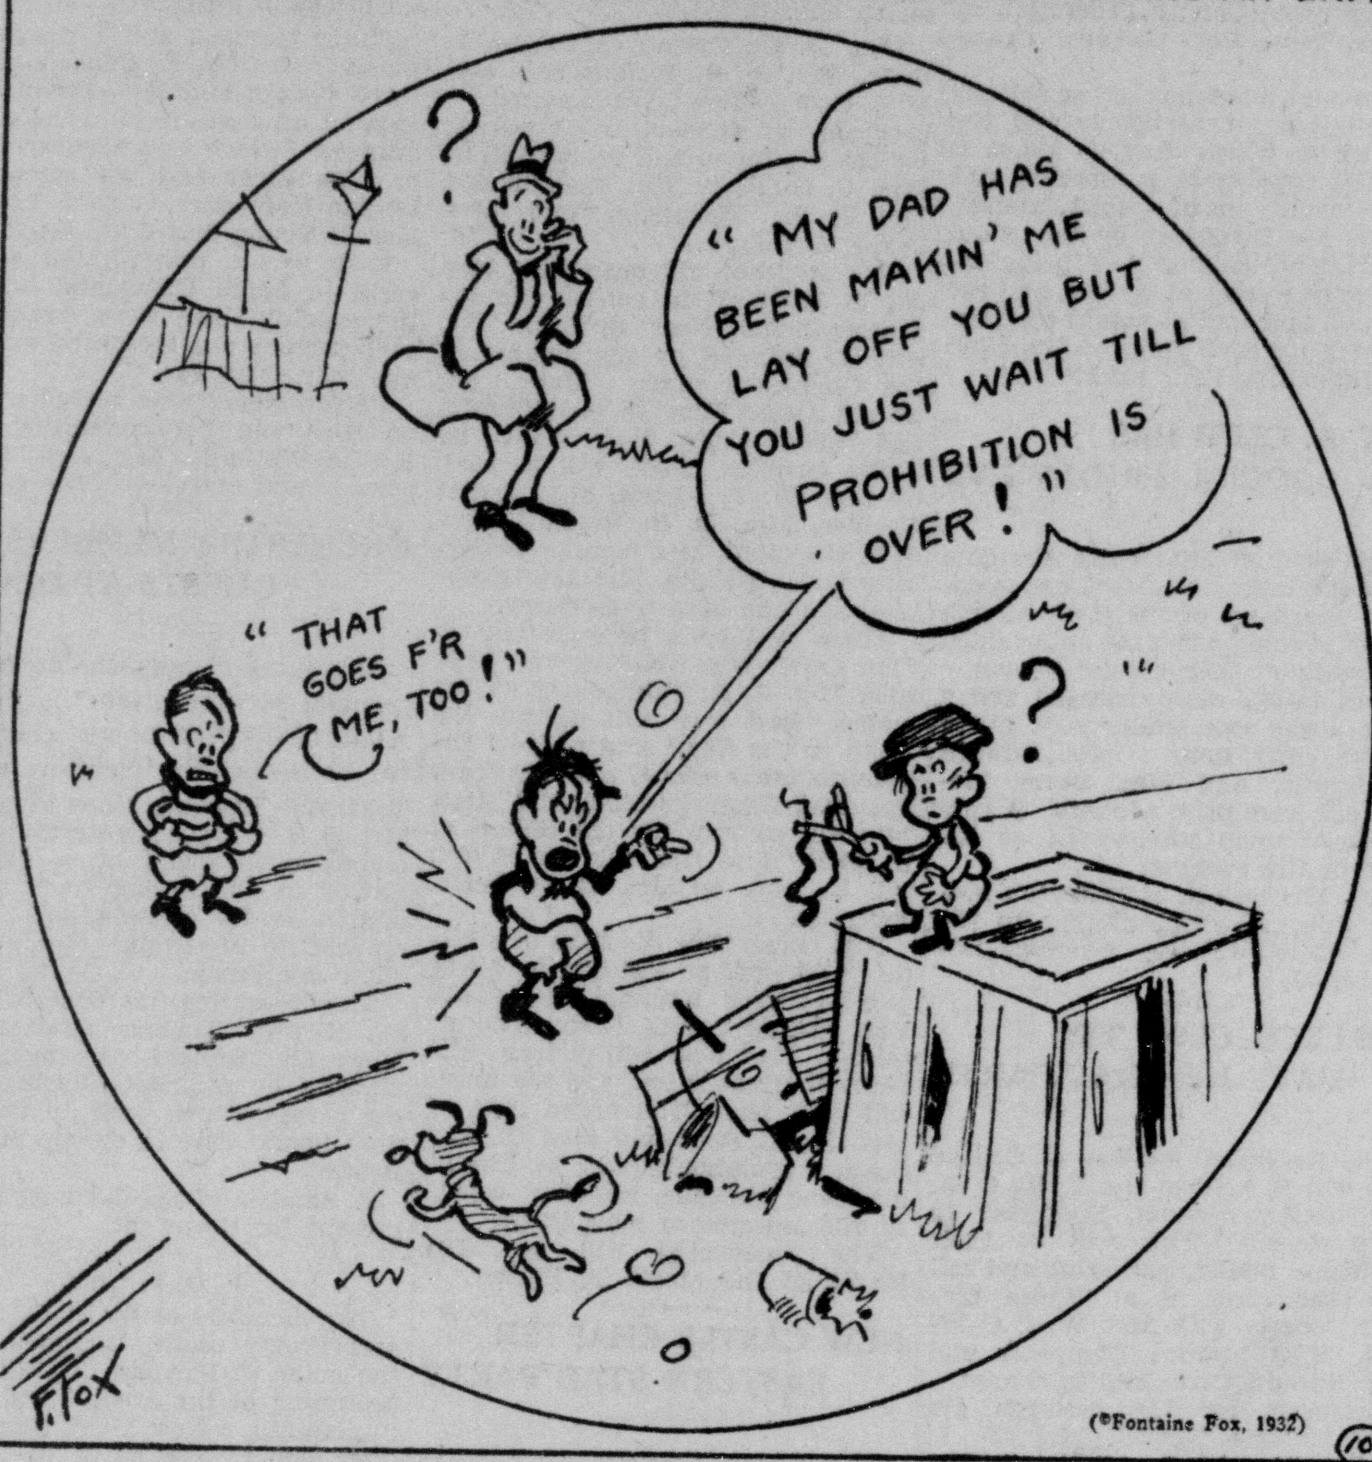

"Oh, yeah?"

"Oh, yeah."

MAN NEEDS

The strength that comes from struggle as much as the joy that comes from victory.

To know the truth even if it makes him mad.

Something to maintain his hope more than something to sustain his body.

Something to die for before living becomes worth while.

An occasional storm to help him appreciate good weather.

Some pain that he may really know what good health is.

A God, that he may not end by despising himself.

ONE-THIRD FOR TAXES

WHEN the flower of prosperity was in full bloom the man of small salary sulked when estimates of per capita wealth and income made their annual appearance and wondered who was getting the lion's share of his share. Today those of them who still hold their jobs and old salaries can read the estimates for 1932 without the old pangs of envy. They need only hope that the persons who got the lion's share in 1929 and before are now paying their share of the losses.

Estimates fix this year's income of the American people at $37,500,000,000 or 30 per cent below that of last year and less than half of the 1929 income of $85,000,000,000.

Some of this loss, of course, is only on paper, and another considerable fraction is offset by the fall in commodity prices. The dollar is worth 34 cents more now than in 1929 when prices were at their peak.

National income is today about where it was in 1913. Living costs are higher, although some commodity prices have touched the 1913 level within the past year. Taxes also are higher, 33 cents out of every dollar of income going into public coffers compared with 16 cents in 1913.

Does this explain why the nation is in revolt against the high cost of government and high taxes?

A DIFFERENT LOBBY

All of the old blocs and minority interests are represented by lobbies at this session of congress and will be in force when the new congress enters upon its first session. Alone among them there is a new lobby that seeks no special privilege, asks no appropriation.

This innovation in lobbyism is the National Economy League, which has but one purpose in Washington—cheaper government and lower taxes for all. Were the motives of the others as noble and unselfish, lobbyists in general would not be under suspicion nor lobbying discredited. Self-seeking minorities have abused the right of petition by their lobbying tactics.

The league will oppose every move for treasury grabs, and will seek repeal of legislation under which upwards of $500,000,000 a year is being paid to men who never got beyond the training camps and left the service in perfect physical condition.

It does not, however, intend to pick on the veterans alone. Its larger purpose is to direct the pressure of public opinion against every public extravagance and for every possible public economy. It aims to show congressmen that they have more to fear from the vastly larger taxpayer vote than they have from the soldier vote, or the farmer vote, or the labor vote, or any other minority group. It wants to restore the government to the people by taking it away from organized minorities.

CONCENTRATION—AN EDITORIAL

(BY DR. EMLYN JONES.)

(State Department Of Health.)

Thousands of people fall into evil ways, simply for want of wholesome mental occupation.

An unoccupied mind is like a stagnant pool, the water of which grows slimy and impure. If you wish to be free from unwholesome thoughts and to develop a character that will point to good and useful acts, fill the mind with truth, and keep it occupied.

To achieve anything worth while, one must concentrate upon the thing to be understood and learned. In hydraulic mining the flow of water used would be worthless if spread in fine spray over the face of the hill; but concentrated in a small stream, its power is very great, tearing away earth and rock, and overcoming all obstacles.

The great thinkers of the world have possessed in a high degree, this power of concentration. Sir Isaac Newton, who so greatly enriched the world by his discoveries, possessed so great a power of concentration, that he often did not know whether or not he had died. It frequently happens that students of only modest talent, become by means of mental labor, men of power; while highly gifted individuals who cease to exercise their brain, become narrow minded, and often stupid.

The substantial work of man's record has been done by good, but not extraordinary minds, working simply and methodically. Whatever is worth doing at all, is worth doing well.

FRANKINCENSE AND MYRRH

Christmas, now so rapidly approaching, is a day of charity and love. A day when family groups gather around the tinsel-adorned spruce, beside the hearthside, to renew their faith and turn thoughts to the goodness of life.

It has been a strange year, one fraught with anxiety and uncertainty; one of real and imaginary turmoil and turbulence; one of certain fears that are still to come true. Most of us have accepted the gifts of Fate, good or bad, with a true Trojan spirit. We have looked upon our friends, our neighbors, our acquaintances with a charitable generosity born of understanding. We have attempted to share with the less fortunate the fruits of our labors so that their burdens might be eased. We have found no place in our affections for those who bitterly assail life and all of its gifts, forgetting, as they do, that our paths have been so much easier to travel than those of our sturdy forefathers. Our distress seems small in comparison to the obstacles and obstructions encountered by the pioneers who left us the heritage of a free America.

In the midst of confusion we have been a fortunate people. We still have the smiling faces of little children, their trust, their love. We have the same old skies, the blinking stars and the rising sun. Is not the song of the thrush as sweet as ever? Have the trees denied you of their shade, of promise of new life in spring and abundant fruits in autumn? Did the violet fail to bloom or did the arbutus lose its fragrance? The katydid sang in the same old way when Sirius brightened the August night and the swan and its cygnet found no reason to abandon their flights to the Southland when the urge came.

Surely the gifts of the Creator are as abundant now as in the days of the Crusaders. Life's frankincense and myrrh is yours for the asking but you must seek it with a stout heart, an unbending faith, and belief in mankind. The clouds of yesterday are but passing curtains hiding the smiling skies to come.

The university of hard knocks also gives you a degree. It is called the third.

Times will be normal when people quit waiting for an easy-money miracle.

Politicians are thinking up some kind of unemployment insurance scheme, to be put into effect as soon as everybody is employed again.

Short Work Week Believed Inevitable In Normal Times

Demand Of American Federation Of Labor For 30-Hour Schedule Held To Be Difficult Under Present Conditions If Too Costly

Demand of the American Federation of Labor for a five-day week and six hour day has inspired comments in all parts of a country. Some observers believe that present conditions are unfavorable, while others hold that the time has arrived for the application of the rule. Examples among isolated employees are declared to have been successful. Chief among the objections is the contention that industry is too heavily burdened now to undertake increased labor cost.

"The enlightened improvement of the circumstances of labor will always mean the improvement of our whole national economy," thinks the BOSE MOINES REGISTER, "and for that reason, if for no other, it deserves the earnest support of every class." The DAYTON DAILY NEWS recognizing that "labor is working out a program of its own for coping with the economic program," suggests that "its program may be wrong or right," but advises that "those who come forward to say it is wrong stand obligated to propose a better." Quoting the labor leaders as upholding the purpose of "mastery of the machine," and "demanding the great reform through reason," but holding "force" in reserve, the NEWARK EVENING NEWS advises that if they "can tell how they intend to 'master the machine' they will not have to use force."

"This five day week and six hour day is almost a certainty," is the opinion of the CHARLESTON (S. C.) EVENING POST, which feels, however, that it is beginning to be doubtful if that will be sufficient to solve the problem." The Evening Post adds: "Now that man has learned to make machines, it seems that he is in danger of working himself out of a job. Was Samuel Butler a true prophet? Will man eventually have to rebel against the machine and exterminate it before it exterminates him? Or will the world sooner find a solution to the enormous problem of distribution that will make available to countless millions of the world's population the products of science and mechanism which they now know little or nothing and thereby prolong for a while at least, the need for increasing production?"

"Some industrial leaders have been experimenting with shorter working hours, and thus far it has been tried out only on a small scale but with satisfactory results," says the SAN JOSE MERCURY HERALD with the conclusion that "there is no better time to investigate the possibilities than now," and that "if it is found that labor is mistaken in thinking the five day week and six hour day is a practical remedy that will cure unemployment, then other measures will have to be devised."

One question that impresses the PORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM is as to the influence of a 30 hour week in organized labor, without one to accompany it throughout the vast area of unorganized labor. That paper concludes: "The action of the Federation of Labor is one certain accomplishment, however. It is a direct challenge to inertia on the part of the industrial heads. If it has no other merit it is a hope that is approved by wise men in the present state of affairs. The prescribers are willing to take their own prescriptions. It now is up to somebody else to prescribe and make the same crucial test."

"Without any particular steering, without any organized hallelujah," declares the OMAHA WORLD-HERALD, "the shorter week is coming. There will be obstacles in its path, of course. Many employers, many groups of employers, will object. But in a few years the shorter week will be standard and people will accept it without being quite clear as to how it happened. How generally farmers will accept shorter working hours is problematical. A readjustment is as necessary on the farms as elsewhere because there, too, labor saving machinery has greatly reduced the amount of labor to be done by hand."

One defect in the program is pointed out by the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS, with the statement: "The shorter work week as a means of providing employment for a large number of workers has gained the support of many far-sighted employers who have put it into effect during the depression. The experience thus gained, a survey by the national industrial conference board reveals, suggests that the shortened work week will be continued when prosperity returns. There is a less favorable opinion, however, regarding the six hour day. Many executives oppose it as unnecessarily inefficient. It is too long to be worked successfully in one shift, and its division into two three-hour periods increased the proportion of time lost in starting machinery and in shifting into working clothes. Further, the expense of permitting costly machinery to be idle eighteen hours a day is regarded as prohibitive."

"At a time when a large part of the employed forces are already working less than 30 hours a week, it is difficult to see wherein this further regulation of business would help much," thinks the ASHLAND (Ky.) INDEPENDENT while the SPOKANE-REVIEW fears that industries might be forced to close in the present wages were continued for a short day, and continues: "The heavier penalties, the deeper suffering, the heart-breaking tragedies would be borne by labor."

The BOISE IDAHO STATESMAN argues that "instead of giving more men employment, the 30 hour week under present conditions would throw others out of jobs." The HARTFORD TIMES asks if "inevitable increase in the cost of production might not hinder expansion of employment." The HAZELTON (Pa.) STANDARD-SENTINEL suggests: "There are few who doubt that mass production by machinery will continue to shorten the working day and week, but there are limits beyond which industry cannot pay a living wage or make fair profit."

The LINCOLN STATE JOURNAL warns that "strikes and other displays of force often take heavier toll among those participating than from employers." The COLUMBIA (S. C.) STATE concludes: "What the country needs most is increased payrolls with increased earnings on farms. But neither can be increased by proclamation. Foundations must be built and the workers on those foundations must have commonsense and statesmanship."

The superintendent remained cool. "Well, sir," he said, "I don't know that we are to blame for that. What do you expect us to do? Get her a new dress?"

"No, sir. I don't intend to let you off so easily as that," the other man replied gruffly. He brandished in his right hand a small piece of silk. "What I propose to have you do," he said, "is to match this silk."

PERSONALITIES

Why always try to change somebody? You don't allow for personality? You don't like certain characteristics but another might like them. Instead of acknowledging that people differ, and it is their privilege, you'd like to pour them all from the same mold.

It won't work out, and it was never intended that all should be alike.

You think that they might enjoy greater popularity and prosperity if they adopted your advised plan. That is debatable.

To endeavor to be what one is not, is not going to get anyone very far.

In each individual certain traits predominate. They bear a close relation to their other characteristics and harmonize in the individual.

Not that every one might not be improved, with a little thought and will.

But to try to change the characteristics of a person is not a safe plan.

You ask too much entirely—and perhaps you need making over also. Your individuality and personality may be distasteful to others.

The world is a fine place because no two persons are alike.

HOPE

What hope is left for us today? The hope we had long years away. Younger we were, but even then The future urged us to be men And led us in the face of strife To battle 'gainst the odds of life.

Most difficult the future seemed To us who looked afar and dreamed. Nor could we guess the changes which Should make so many of us rich. Yet held by hope we all stood fast Against the hardships of the past.

Now difficult grows life once more. The days of easy tasks are o'er. The indolent delights have gone. But yet that hope which spurred us on Still urges us to face the test And give to life our utmost best.

None knows just where the future runs. But for our daughters and our sons The hope remains that as we found The paths which led to higher ground. So in the future they shall find Both victory and peace of mind.

HEAR LITTLE LUELLA WALTERS—Choir Vested

The First Presbyterian Church

Morning Theme: "A Teacher Come from God"

Evening "The Preacher Who Said It with Bricks"

Can you guess who this Old Testament Prophet was? What did he advise for Hard Times? Ought the Priests have a salary? Ought poor people attend church? Is it right to give money to Foreign Missions in a time like this? Should the Mayor's Relief not come first?

Capacity Crowd Delighted Over Sr. Class Play

Excellent Character Portrayals Of Cast And New Scenery Features

"Buddies" Is First Play Of Type To Be Produced In Ellwood City

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 10.—For the first time in two or three years the Lincoln auditorium in Ellwood City was filled to capacity; that is, every available seat taken, for such an occasion as yesterday—the presentation of the senior class play "Buddies."

The splendid response of the public yesterday was remarkable. They must have known of the fact that they would be witnessing something new and distinctively different. The audience was not disappointed. From the moment that the curtain went up, everybody was all attention. The beauty and adaptability of the new scenery to the occasion was breathtaking for the first few moments.

"Buddies" was supposed to have taken place just after the war in France and the American army was to show her and the class' school took place in the courtyard of Madame Benoit, somewhere in Brittany. The scene was a perfect presentation of a military camp with all the implements of war before the eye.

Play Is Different.

Something unusual was in the air as the audience began to file into the auditorium earlier in the evening. Greeting them were ushers attired in soldiers and sailors uniforms.

The play is a memorial to the tireless work of the coaches, Miss Mary Elizabeth Braham and Miss Elizabeth Knight, and of the cast itself. Anyone seeing the play was under the impression that the coaches would have to be very capable and that the cast must necessarily be especially talented.

For included in the play was much French dialogue and song. And those members of the cast who had to talk in broken English had to receive much special attention.

Just before the last act, Miss Bessie Burrows, president of the January graduating class and one of the characters in the play, gave a brief address of appreciation to all concerned for the success of the play. She could not find adequate words to show her and the class' appreciation for the coaching ability of Miss Braham and Miss McKnight.

Before the play and between acts Prof. Paul Winter and his high school orchestra entertained with many beautiful numbers which resulted in bringing a hearty applause from the house.

The Play's Performances

The very appreciative audience could not help but marvel at the work of Robert Close, James Turner, Miss Vera Demas, Miss Catherine Wilson, Leo Gorzkowski, Ronald Glover and Miss Frances Nelson.

The others, Howard James, Theron Allen, Charles Kissick, Thomas McKim, Miss Mildred Hall, Miss Bessie Burrows, Miss Rosemary McCandless and Sidney Stein, also contributed their parts to the evening's entertainment and fun.

The Plot

The play is humorously centered around a squad of American soldiers who are encamped in the French peasant home of Madame Benoit, awaiting orders to start their journey homeward. A laugh provoking situation arises from the beginning in this setting, due to Babe, a very bashful member of the squad, who is madly in love with the French girl's daughter Juliet, but is unable to express his affections or propose to her.

Because of the tricky villainy of Alphonse Pettibols, Juliet is to be forced to marry him against her will, and because of his timidity Babe does not heroically save the day by marrying her. Sonny, Babe's friend in sympathy with Juliet's situation, gives her the permission to be temporarily engaged to him so that her marriage to Pettibols will be impossible. In the meantime Louise Maitland, Sonny's fiancée from Brooklyn, arrives in the encampment, and not understanding Sonny's motives in becoming engaged to Juliet, she breaks her engagement with him. Both being fitted, Babe and Louise decide to become engaged and try to forget together. This makes the situation all the more complex and humorous.

With the going away of Pettibols the tangle of love affairs is cleverly unwound. Louise and Sonny renew their engagement, while Babe is spurred on to make a gallant proposal to his real love, Juliet.

Everything was in keeping with the order and type of play. Besides the tangle of love affairs, the French girls were costumed in peasant attire. The wise-cracking of Leo Gorzkowski as "Able" and the other members of the squad brought on many laughs.

The excellent scenery was further brought out by the fine lighting system in the high school. The effects of day, dawn and night were beautifully brought out. In whole "Buddies" afforded an excellent plot for entertainment and is believed to be one of the best amateur productions ever staged here.

Ronald Glover as Alphonse Pettibols was responsible for roars of laughter at his every appearance. As the highly polished and excitable French villain Glover was remarkable. He gave the type of impersonation that made mothers resolve to keep their daughters in after nine o'clock. The complete cast is as follows:

Buddy ..... Theron Allen

Three Postmasters In This District To Face Democratic Opposition

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent,
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 10.—Apparently only three postmaster appointments in the 26th Pennsylvania congressional district will have to face the announced Democratic opposition to all Hoover nominations before March third.

Two of these postmasters have already expired and Representative J. Howard Swick has recommended appointments. The third will expire December 18 when the present term of Postmistress Margaret Warnock at Darlington in Beaver county terminates. No other postmasterships in the district will expire until after March third, and those becoming vacant after that date will be filled by Democrats.

Two vacancies for which Mr. Swick has already made recommendations are at Villa Maria in Lawrence county and Renfrew in Butler county. He expects to recommend an appointment at Darlington.

Whether any of the individuals proposed by Swick for these posts are confirmed will depend upon the ability of the Democrats to get co-operation from the Republican Progressives. The Democrats are determined to prevent any further appointments by President Hoover. Without aid from the Progressives, however, they will be unable to prevent senate confirmation.

Evidence Being Woven Tight In Yacht Slaying

Coast Police Slowly Develop Evidence Affecting William Guy

ALIBI STORIES FAIL TO HOLD

Wanderwell Murder Mystery Has Stirred California Nearly Week

By RAY MILLER
International News Service Special Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Cal. Dec. 10.—His "ironclad alibi" shaken, and "positively identified" by two persons as the "man at the port-hole" William J. "Curley" Guy, sea rover and amateur boxer, today faced charges of murdering Capt. Walter Wanderwell, world adventurer and soldier of fortune, "the man with 1,000 enemies," on the latter's yacht Carma, in Long Beach harbor.

Capt. Wanderwell was shot through the back in his darkened cabin on board the Carma Monday night. The assassin escaped.

Four persons of the "crew" of eight beautiful women and seven men who had planned to accompany Capt. Wanderwell on a "riches and adventure" cruise to the South Sea saw a "man at the port-hole" a few minutes before they heard the death bullet.

Suspect Identified
Deputy District Attorney Clarence Hunt said today that Marian Smith, pretty Georgia girl, and Cuthbert Willis, the Carma's engineer, identified Guy last night as the men they had seen at the port-hole.

Edmund Zeranski, Hollywood cameraman, and Mary Parks, of Boston, who also saw the phantom face, were "not so sure."

Guy's "ironclad alibi" was that Monday night he was at the home of Glendale, Delam and his wife both said that "Curley" was here that night. Delam said he went to bed at 3:30 p. m. and that Guy was there then. Mrs. Delam said "Guy was here at least as late as 9 p. m. and he was here the next morning."

However, A. P. Hart, a neighbor of the Delams, said that his pet kitten was shot and killed early Tuesday morning and that he had gone to the back door of the Delam home where Mrs. Delam had told him, he said: "None of the boys are here."

Personality is the quality that enables a husband to put over the explanation that business keeps him in town these nights.

New Castle High Floor Season To Open December 15

Pittsburgh South High Will Be First Opponent For Bridenbaugh Passers

UNION SCHEDULED FOR DECEMBER 20

New Castle High School basketball team will open their 1932-33 season on next Thursday evening at George Washington Junior High floor by meeting the fast South High team of Pittsburgh, according to a changed schedule as announced by Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner today.

The first game was originally set for Friday night December 16, but owing to conflicts at George Washington Junior High the game was moved ahead one day.

Will Play Union
The second game on the High floor program will find the New Castle boys playing the clever Union High team coached by Dave Boyd. Union has a fine team this year and hope to give the Bridenbaugh passers a tough engagement.

The Alumni will play the High School on December 22 and will have a strong team lined up against their former coach and teammates.

Schedule Braddock
Westinghouse High will be the opponents for the High team here on December 27, and Braddock High the 1931-32 W. P. I. A. L. champions will be at New Castle on the night of December 30. This Braddock team coached by Ham Hudsc is the same outfit that upset New Castle last year at the Pitt Stadium in the W. P. I. A. L. playoffs, and therefore the Bridenbaugh passers are anxious for revenge.

The Braddock game will be the final one before the start of the Section Three season on January 6 when New Castle High will go to Rochester, Pa., for a game. Gardner was thinking of scheduling another pre-season game for January 3, but has given up the idea.

Floor Coaches AT Pittsburgh

Basketball Coaches Of Tri-State District Attend Pitt Clinic Today

PITT TO PLAY GEORGETOWN FIVE

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 10.—The basketball season in the tri-state area got its official send-off here today as 2,000 coaches, officials, and players sat in at the University of Pittsburgh's clinic which served as a prelude to the eastern conference battle between the Panthers and Georgetown.

The spotlight was focused on the night court tussle—the inaugural game in the new circuit. Furthermore, it presented leading coaches and officials from all sections of the Keystone state with an opportunity of seeing how the new rules work out in actual play.

Coaches To Speak
The court clinic arranged by "Doc" Carlson, Panther's coach, was expected to bring forth a complete discussion of the rules, methods of play, and recommendations for improving the game. Among the speakers listed for the conference are Dr. Carlson, "Chick" Davies, Duquesne mentor, Ken Loeffler, Geneva coach, Waldo Tiffin, Allegheny College, John Lawther, Westminster, Bob Thorn, Grove City, Glen Wild, W. and J. and Francis Stadsvald, West Virginia.

Pitt's 1932 squad is built around three veterans. It is doubtful, however, if Captain Don Smith will be able to play on account of an injured hip. In the event that he doesn't Carlson will insert Whitey Wilson of New Kensington and "Sippy" Hughes at forwards; Claire Cribbs at center, Don McDonald and Russ Oschenhirt, at guards.

Shenango High Tossers Drill

Prepare For Floor Season—Start Season On December 16

With football togs laid away in moth balls the athletes of Shenango township high school are turning their attention to basketball. Coach Ed Raney has been drilling the squad in fundamentals for the past two weeks, and thought the season would get under way Friday night, with Centerville high as the opponent.

For some reason Centerville cancelled and the season will get under way December 16 with the team playing at New Wilmington. January 3 Evans City will be played at Evans City, January 8 Mt. Jackson will be the attraction at Shenango, January 13 Union High at Union, January 17 Bessemer at Shenango, January 27, open; January 31 Slippery Rock, away, February 3 East Brook away, February 10 Wampum away, February 17 Bessemer at home, February 24 Slippery Rock at home, February 28 Evans City at home, March 3 East Brook at home, March 10 Wampum away, March 17 Union at home, March 24 Mt. Jackson away and March 31 New Wilmington at home.

The basketball team contains the following players—Roznik, captain; Frengal, Dambrocia, Polnick, Craig, Surzanovitch, Hordig, V. Polnick, Seeth, Arnold, Shaffer, Wilkinson, Heminger, Zeigler, Vaneman, Clark, Trimble, Laitinen, Kalajainen, Gibson and Pitch, manager.

DRIVER SHOWS POOR JUDGMENT IN PLACE SELECTED FOR CRASH

BUTLER, Pa. Dec. 10.—Paul Brewster, 28, New Castle road, picked a tough spot last night for an automobile crash.

Police said his car crashed into a car owned by Dr. Harvey L. Sanderson, 1006 New Castle street, while the Sanderson car was parked in front of 404 West Cunningham St. Sergeant Emmett J. Donovan of Troop D. state police, who lives at 404 West Cunningham street, arrested Brewster.

Brewster is to be given a hearing before Alderman John W. Bixler.

Most Battlers Fear Southpaws

Davies And Barron Two Of Those Who Like To Fight Them

SEVERAL NEW FACES COMING

Southpaws are the bugaboo of right-handed battlers and only a few of the latter care to mix blows with left handed boys but among the boys who apparently don't give a rap whether an opponent is left or right handed is Mickey Barron, Scranton coal miner. He's docketed to battle Ross Fields here next Wednesday night.

Ross has enjoyed a rather high rating among the bantamweights owing to his consistent victories. A few nights ago he pranced against Wee Willie Davies, one of the smartest and shiftest fighters in the game and according to reports Ross had quite a busy evening.

Willie was badly marked up at the end of the fight while Ross didn't bare a mark of the encounter. Some of the lads gave the bout to Davies and others termed it a draw. But when attempts was made to secure a foe for Fields here most boys paged replied "No Sire!"

But Mickey Barron proved an exception. When the coal digger was requested to strut his wares for the first time here against the southpaw he accepted the bout. According to those who have seen him in action he's quite some fighter and a "showy kid."

There's one thing about the coming embroglio. Fields has fought here only once. It will be Barron's inaugural at Castle bowl and the fans will practically see two new faces, something that should prove a tonic fistically.

No Love Lost
There's no love lost between Marty Toukamon and Young Terry as the result of their bout here some weeks ago and gloves will swing as soon as the opening bell rings. Terry is training hard and believes that he can beat the Jefferson county, O. puncher.

Marty is easy to hit. Terry proved this when he set Toukamon down in an early round. But knocking 'em down and keeping 'em down is another matter. Toukamon is tough and hits hard and he hopes to make the coming battle, one of many hard swings.

Merle Gibson was forced to cease training but may hop into harness tonight. He caught a chest cold and rather than take any chances on congestion started doctoring. He may be O. K. by tonight. He is billed to meet Homer Gray.

Another new face will be introduced when Tommy Kilran meets Poe Wee Carney of this city. Kilran is a mate of Terry's and according to Akron reports he knows how to fight. If this lad sticks to it like Terry does, Poe Wee is in for a tough evening.

Four New Castle Hunters Return With Fine Deer

Another party of New Castle deer hunters have returned home and they brought with them four fine specimens of deer.

The men who returned to their homes last night and exhibited deer were: L. W. Hill of Wilmington avenue with a 6 point buck; George Reynolds of R. D. No. 3 with a 6 point buck; Jesse L. Moore of Glenmore boulevard with a 9 point buck, and Charles Robinson of New Wilmington road with a 7 point buck.

The men were hunting in Clearfield county and report a plentiful supply of deer this year.

LITTLE BEAVER

Virginia Stenicke is confined to her home by illness.

Bessie Williams of Mt. Air spent the week-end at the home of Mary Knepp.

Charles Farris, who has been deer hunting, returned home recently with a six point buck.

Jonathan Byler moved Wednesday from the farm of William Taylor to that of Pete Overlander.

Mr. and Mrs. Amil Forsythe of Ellwood City were Sunday visitors at the home of Ernest Gordon.

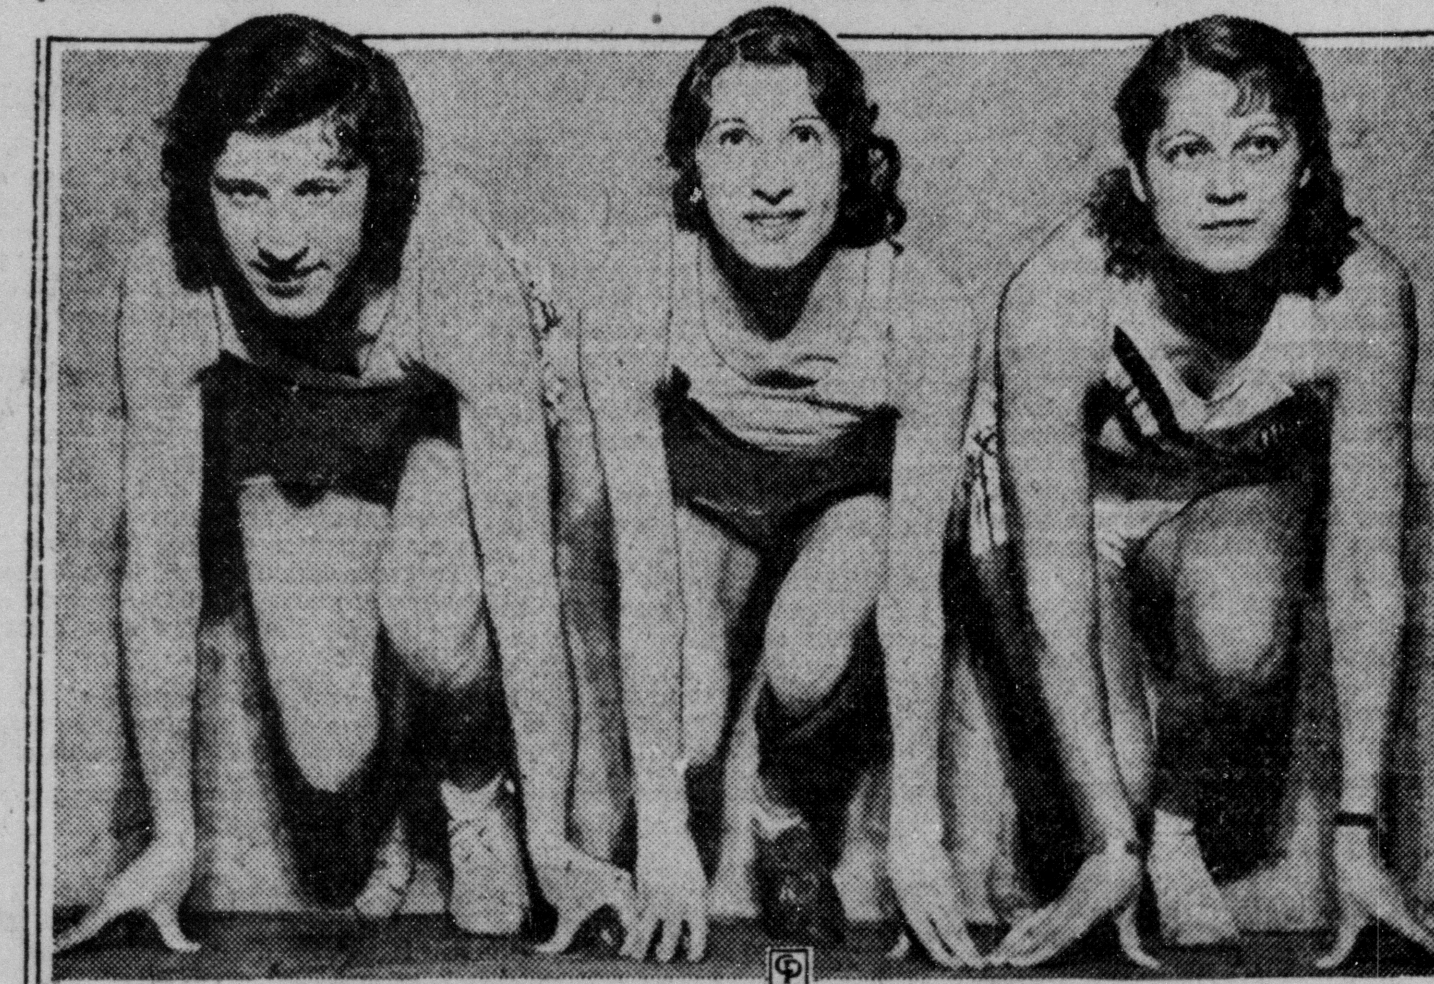

Charles Young and son Maylon of Ellwood City spent Monday at the home of Mr. Young's mother, Mrs. Henry Young.

Mrs. Phillip Knepp is the victim of a broken thumb which resulted when someone accidentally closed a door on it last week.

HOLDS MAN FOR COURT
Dan Ebbitt, Norris Way, was held for court on a charge of larceny, following a hearing before Alderman Wallace J. Ewing. Chief of Police John F. Haven made the charge. Ebbitt went to jail in default of bond for his trial appearance.

GETS FINE BUCK
T. W. Spiers, of 1037 Adams street, has returned from a hunting trip in Forrest county with a fine eight point buck.

Three Queens of Speed From Chicago

Northern Team Favored To Win

All-Star North And South Football Teams Battle Today At Baltimore

By HARVEY RIVKIN
International News Service Sports Writer
BALTIMORE, Dec. 10.—A capacity crowd of 60,000 was expected to witness the clash between an all-star Northern football team and the flower of the South's gridders at Municipal Stadium this afternoon. The proceeds will go to charity.

The Southern team, boasting a heavy line, was a slight favorite. The Northerners, with a set of fast, versatile backs including Bob Chase and Bill Gilbane of Brown, was expected to use an open attack, featuring the forward pass.

Many Stars To Play
Ralph Murff, triple-threat back of the unbeaten Centenary College eleven, and Tex Leyendecker, Vanderbilt's All-American tackle, are the stars of the "Rebel" team.

Dick Harlow, of Western Maryland, coach of the Dixie squad, predicted the Northern backfield would find his Southern line impregnable, but admitted he was worried over the team's lack of a high-class punter.

Jock Sutherland, Pittsburgh mentor who is coaching the Northerners, predicted his team would win "by a touchdown or two."

Greyhounds Form Basketball Team

Greyhounds basketball team has been organized for the coming season and expects to have a fast team. The team will hold its first practice today. The following will compose the team: Willard Martin, Henry Wyman, Harry Wyman, Harold Reardon, Thomas Reardon, Harry Lockley, Bernard Greene and Lewis Hannon.

The Greyhounds would like to book games with all fast teams in the city and county on a home and home basis. Call 1748-M and ask for Harold Wyman.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion of the world, is opposed to letting his protegee box for Madison Square Garden, New York, and furthermore he proposes to let Max fight Max Baer before the German clashes with Jack Sharkey. According to reports from New York Jack Dempsey may promote a Schmeling-Baer fight. Should Dempsey wish to be the promoter Jacobs will string along with him.

The former heavyweight champion of the world, Dempsey, received a big ovation last night in New York. He was seated near the ring-side when Kid Chocolate, recognized as the featherweight champion by New York state, met Fidel LaBarba. The crowd erupted and he was forced to enter the ring for a rousing reception. Chocolate defeated LaBarba in a hard 15 round fight.

While this fight was under way Jimmy Thomas of Pittsburgh was dishing out a lacing to Bobby Letham, Canadian bantamweight champion in a 10 round bout in Pittsburgh. Boos greeted the decision given Primo Carnera over Max Baer in a 10 round battle in Chicago. The fight, according to Chicago reports, proved that Carnera is a better fighter than Levinsky and must be reckoned with when the title contenders are considered.

At two o'clock today, Los Angeles time, Notre Dame and the University of Southern California will clash. According to reports the Notre Dame gridders appeared in excellent condition. The Irish continued a 10 to 7 and 10 to 8 favorite to win. Football enthusiasts anticipate a passing game.

North and South football teams will clash at Baltimore today. Among the gridders will be Nick DeCarbo of New Castle, who played a great game at Duquesne this season. He will play at guard. Cooper of Geneva will also get into the encounter. Tuss McLaughrey's halfback, Gilbane, will also play for the North.

Ralph Greenleaf stepped forward last night when he beat his old rival Frank Taberski 125 to 61 in 10 innings in the eleventh national pocket billiard title play.

John McHugh of San Diego won from Oil Dutra, Santa Monica, 3 and 2 yesterday in the third round of the San Francisco National Open match play golf tournament.

Ted Yarosz of Manaca has been suspended in Michigan until he fights Paulie Walker at Detroit. His manager had cancelled the fight because he claimed Yarosz had a cold.

The Kid and Fidel went through 15 slashing rounds at top speed, when Chocolate was announced as the winner a storm of boos began high up in the galleries, and broke in a crescendo of disapproval at the ring side.

The disapproval was not confined to the audience, for ten sport writers at the ringside who were asked their opinion registered six votes for LaBarba, two for Chocolate and two favored a draw. LaBarba himself heard the verdict with an obvious look of surprise, but, refused to make the customary squawk.

Yankees Angling For Goose Goslin

Minor League Moguls And Officials End Session At Columbus, Ohio

PLAYER LIMITS ARE CUT DOWN

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 10.—The week of the big wind is over and the scene where words blew a gale and rhetoric raged finally knew the healing quality of silence for the first time in five days. Even the tide of human futility had receded this morning, leaving merely the flotsam and jetsam of a few ideas. These were, briefly:

1. That the class AA leagues may have had a private "understanding" on the salary limit question before they went on the convention floor to sneer at one another in a genteel, well-bred way.

2. That the leagues in classes B, C and D have established player-limits so low the wife of the manager may have to sit on the bench, just to be sure of a quorum.

3. That the New York Yankees have made, are making or merely hope to make a deal with the St. Louis Browns for Leon "Goose" Goslin, the gander himself.

Just how far this one has progressed, if at all, I don't profess to know. But they do say the Yankees have gone pretty far with the thing, being convinced their Mr. Ruth is not long for this life, so to speak, and that the rules are pretty explicit about having nine men on the ball field or it doesn't count.

St. Vitus Team Is Undeclared

St. Vitus basketball team has won two games and has not yet suffered a defeat, it was announced today by Sam Ross, manager of the team. The St. Vitus team would like to play the Franklin "Y" team. ### Irish-Trojans Battle Today In California

Notre Dame Is Favored To Whip Coast Champions In Contest Today

BOTH COACHES QUITE GLOOMY

By TED SMITS
International News Service Sports Writer

MEMORIAL COLISEUM, LOS ANGELES, Dec. 10.—Before 100,000 spectators, the largest football crowd in the nation this year, the mighty gridiron eleven of Notre Dame and Southern California were to come to grips today with the national championship at stake.

The weather was uncertain. Rain fell steadily all night.

Pre-game betting sentiment favored the Irish at odds of 10 to 6, but these shortened as starting time approached.

To judge from coaching predictions, however, both teams will lose. "Hunk" Anderson of the Irish openly forecast a Trojan victory by two touchdowns, while Dour Howard Jones of U. S. C. could see nothing ahead for his undefeated eleven save disaster.

Two Sterling Teams.
The contest pits two sterling eleven. U. S. C., undefeated this season and holding another Pacific coast crown, will risk all to repeat last year's 16 to 14 victory over the Irish and lay claim again to the national collegiate football crown.

The Irish, their record blighted only by the early-season reversal at the hands of Pittsburgh, are out to still the murmurs of criticism that have been directed against Anderson, who was called on last season to fill the shoes of the late K. K. Rockne.

Despite Anderson's gloomy utterances concerning the influenza epidemic, it was believed that the Irish would start the game virtually at full strength.

Union High School News

SCHOOL CLUBS ACTIVE

Various clubs have been formed by the students of Union high school, each being directed by a teacher interested in the workings of the club.

A journalism club, consisting of the senior English classes, was organized under the instruction of Miss Margaret E. Tucker.

The Art club sponsored by M. C. Young, is said to be more interesting than that of last year. The members have decided to call their club the Silver Palette club. Much of the work of the club consists of making posters for the senior play and working on the year book. Later the members will start work on other things in preparation for an exhibition to be held January 17, 1933.

Miss Marion Wilson of the Y. W. C. A. acted as chairman at the meeting of the Girls Reserve club held Thursday, December 6. During the meeting the following officers were elected: Helen Kiehl, president; Virginia Carpenter, vice president; and Eleanor McCune, secretary. A party was planned to be held at the Y. W. C. A. The club is supervised by Miss Margaret E. Tucker.

Debating teams are being organized under the supervision of D. E. Hoffmaster. Several interesting debates with other schools of the county are being planned, the first being with Bessemer high school in January. Mr. Hoffmaster recently received a gold medal from the speech department at Kean State college.

Many other interesting clubs are being organized such as the Latin club under the supervision of Miss Ruth Horton, Camera club under the supervision of R. F. Conway and many others.

The girls have organized a club called the Girls' Athletic association. The following were elected officers of the G. A. A.: Jane Davis, president; Laura Bacon, vice president; Elsie Latimer, secretary; Shirley Kerr, treasurer.

PLAN GRID BANQUET

The Union Athletic association has prepared for the annual football banquet which will take place December 15. Nine men, including Captain Walter Sniezek, who has held the leadership for two successive years, will be lost to the team.

D. M. Boyd's call for basketball was answered by five letter men and a number of other young and ambitious men. Coach "Dave" Boyd promises a fast and clever team this year.

The girls' basketball team hopes to do good work this year also, which is under the supervision of Miss Sarah Louden.

The girls and boys varsity basketball squads will officially open their 1932-33 season on Friday, December 16, when they oppose Wampum on the Union gym floor.

The class basketball games for the entertainment of the student body during the lunch period have begun and some very interesting games will be played.

MUSIC CONCERT PLANNED

Walter Duff, music instructor, has been working hard gathering soloists and other material in preparation for a musical concert to be held in the near future.

Wilbert Leonard, the high school principal, has been a curious observer at several of the orchestra practices lately. This high school activity interests him greatly since he is, besides an instructor, a violinist.

NAME "ANNUAL" STAFF

Miss Adelyn Tompkins, a member of the senior class, has returned after having been ill for two weeks.

NOTES OF INTEREST

Mr. Leonard's biology classes are studying the structure of the human body. They expect, as in previous years, the skeleton of the human body, which will aid them in understanding the structure.

The freshman guidance class has been having court for the last month in the gym while the many other clubs are having their business meetings. Their instructor is Mr. Leonard.

There seemed to have been an increase of pupils in orchestra rehearsals this week, due to the fact that free tickets are being given to the senior play Friday evening.

The senior class has begun its work on the annual year book. Although it is earlier than the former classes have started, the class wishes to have it as nearly completed as possible by January, 1933.

The senior class recently chose its commencement invitations.

The students had a very pleasant assembly program on Friday, December 2, when they were addressed by Cameron Ralston, art Chicago newspaperman, on the subject of prohibition.

The mothers and students of Union township are working daily at the high school making clothing for the needy families of the district.

On Thursday the seniors gave a chapel program. Snatches from the play "What Do You Think?" were presented.

Sons Of Veterans Plan Social Night

At the meeting of Oscar L. Jackson Camp No. 249, Sons of Union Veterans held last evening at the city building hall of the organization, it was decided to hold a social evening for the members of the organization and affiliated organizations on Monday evening, December 19.

ROAMING

With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

There's always some use for everything. Even a rough dirt street. And last night was the night when the dirt streets came into their own. The first slick night of the winter, slick enough to break wheels, upset cars and mix up a dough, so in a salad at Butler avenue, the curve on Highland and some others.

As for the engineer, he got home by going down Mill to Taylor, up Taylor to Reynolds, up Reynolds to Williams, over Williams to Lathrop, up Lathrop to Randolph, out Randolph to Arlington, Arlington to Washington—practically all of it dirt street.

As long as we're residing on the East Side they don't need to pave any of those dirt streets as far as we're concerned. Of course the taxpayers on the streets might have a different idea, but it is a help to them there. Even if they nearly break your springs.

And perhaps you have noticed, but they have some vile smelling compound in wood alcohol this year that has your stomach doing handstands when you get filled up at the gas station. There was a time when some of the two-fisted drinkers would use that stuff for a chaser, but with this compound in it the fellow who can get it past his nose must have no smell.

And the smell was spread all over the area for blocks around most of the gas stations all day Friday. It would classify as block and fall beverage, drink it one block and fall in the next.

May we suggest again that you attend the presentation of the Messiah tomorrow afternoon in the Cathedral. That's one way of filling up the afternoon with a performance that will stay with you for a while.

This column seems to be developing into an agency of assistance for citizens in distress. The latest call is for a pair of ear lugs. One of the W. K. citizens has turned in a yelp for help in an effort to find a pair of those old-fashioned frost footers, and we have to pass.

A friend of his is going to Minnesota, where men are men and the temperature is in the cellar, and he figures that a pair of ear lugs may save him a pair of ears. And now where to buy a pair of the things is a question.

Back in the old days they used to turn out some swaggy creations in the way of ear lugs, made of blue velvet and shaped like the human ear, they were a thing of beauty and a laugh forever. It has always been our idea that ear lugs went out with mustache cups and whalebone what-you-may-calls. Seems as though there is still a demand for them.

Our suggestion is to get a set of radio head phones, put a miniature radio set in the inside pocket and then tune in on a hot orchestra.

"Is this Scout Headquarters?"
"Yes". Well, this is—of troop all right!"

"There are cars skidding around and running into each other on the hill here, and I thought if I got my red neckerchief and went down the street I could flag cars coming downhill and running into trouble here, Can I go on duty?" "Go to it, son."

An hour and a half went by. Then a call to the home of the executive. "This is—". I've been on the job, keeping the cars off the hill, and the city men have come and asked the hill now. Shall I go off duty now? or go to some other place?" "Go off duty, scout, get your supper, you've done your good turn today all right!"

Sometimes people do not see the use of the Boy Scout Movement until emergency arises; but certainly it is worth while to have hundreds of such boys who are trained to think and act at the right time. Scouting's motto is "Be Prepared."
